Infants—Looking back at last week

This week Reception children have been waiting patiently for their egg to hatch—it did and they now have a pet dinosaur that they have named Poppy! They have enjoyed finding out who was the tallest in the class and conducted some super measuring. KS1 have completed some brilliant maths using addition and subtraction. They have talked about road safety and learnt what keeps them safe when they cross the road to go to church. Costumes for the nativity have been allocated—please watch out for them coming home for a mend and spruce up. Y1 have joined sentences using ‘and’ and Y2 have been identifying which sentences needed exclamation marks whilst reading ‘Honestly Red Riding Hood was Rotten’.

Infants—Looking forward to next week

Next week the class will be looking at 3D shapes, looking at their properties and sorting into different ways. Reception will be making a monster out of 3D packaging as well as finding out which dinosaur is their favorite and why. KS1 will be recapping on all the different types of sentences—please ask your child what they are (hint: there are 4 in total). The whole class will also be practicing hard on the nativity. This week they will be putting dance steps in amongst the speaking!

Juniors - Looking back at last week

This week in the Juniors we enjoyed reading the rest of our book, ‘Star of Fear, Star of Hope.’ Following on from this, we have been planning our own newspaper reports which could have been written in 1942 about what happened in the story. We have been thinking about reflections in Science and Year 5 and 6 have created their own educational programmes about how light travels for the Year 3 and 4 children. In topic we have been working hard to complete all our pieces of work and present them well in our books. In Maths we have continued working on multiplication and division.

Juniors—Looking forward to next week

Next week we will be going on our trip to the Holocaust Museum where we will find out lots of information we can discuss back at school. We are looking forward to it. The older children will be making periscopes in Science while the Year 3 and 4 children will be trialing materials to see which one would be best for a reflective strip on a book bag. If the children have any materials they would like to test, please send them in. We will be finding out about rationing in topic and continuing with our newspaper reports in Literacy.

Best work of the week went to Garin, Alex, Thea, Nancy, Summer, Freya, Florence, Shohei, Haris and Katie
